December 5-6, 2025

Venue:

Swami Vivekananda Seminar Hall

Focal Theme:

In an era of unprecedented environmental challenges—from climate change and biodiversity loss to land degradation and resource depletion—the need to act has never been more urgent. The fragile balance between human development and environmental sustainability stands at a critical juncture. As floods, droughts, cyclones, and rising sea levels increasingly disrupt ecosystems and livelihoods, especially in vulnerable regions like coastal and rural India, we are compelled to move beyond conventional responses and rethink our relationship with nature, culture, and community.

The proposed National Seminar on “From Crisis to Conservation: Communities, Culture, and Nature in Harmony: Pathways to Resilient and Sustainable Ecosystems” seeks to foster an inclusive and interdisciplinary dialogue on one of the most pressing issues of our time: building sustainable and resilient ecosystems through community-led, culturally rooted, and ecologically sound practices.

This forthcoming seminar aims to explore how the fusion of traditional ecological knowledge, indigenous cultural values, and scientific innovation can offer holistic solutions to environmental crises. Communities, particularly those in coastal, mountainous, forested, and agrarian landscapes, have long developed adaptive strategies to survive and thrive in tune with nature. Recognizing, preserving, and integrating these practices with modern approaches is not only a moral obligation but a strategic necessity in designing sustainable futures.

The event will bring together a vibrant network of scholars, scientists, environmentalists, social workers, educators, policymakers, civil society organizations, and local practitioners from across India to share experiences, present research, and propose policy frameworks. Key themes will include:

- Community-based resource management and ecosystem restoration
- Cultural landscapes and biocultural heritage in conservation
- Climate-resilient agriculture and nature-based solutions
- Coastal and riverine sustainability in the face of sea-level rise
- Gender, equity, and environmental justice
- Role of youth, education, and eco-literacy in sustainability transitions
- Technological innovation and green economy for rural resilience
- Global Politics on ‘Climate Change’

By framing the conversation around the triad of community, culture, and nature, the seminar underscores that conservation is not merely a scientific or policy endeavour, but a deeply human one, rooted in values, identities, practices, and local contexts.

This platform also aims to bridge gaps between academic research and grassroots knowledge, urban planning and rural sustainability, and national policy and local action. Presentations, panel discussions, workshops, and exhibitions will showcase replicable models of resilience and sustainability that are scalable, inclusive, and responsive to the socio-ecological realities of contemporary India.

Ultimately, the seminar aspires to generate a roadmap for action—one that acknowledges the crisis but also celebrates community ingenuity, cultural wisdom, and ecological ethics in shaping a more resilient, just, and sustainable tomorrow.

We invite participants from all corners of the country to join us in this crucial dialogue and contribute meaningfully to the shared vision of living with nature in congruence, not against it.

Sub-themes:

1. Climate Crisis, Biodiversity Loss, and Ecosystem Collapse

- Climate-induced vulnerabilities in coastal, mountain, and riverine regions
- Biodiversity conservation and ecosystem services
- Impacts of land use change and deforestation
- Disaster risk reduction and nature-based solutions

2. Community-Based Resource Management and Eco-restoration

- Participatory watershed and wetland management
- Village-level conservation and restoration models
- Indigenous and traditional practices in ecosystem governance
- Role of Panchayati Raj Institutions in environmental stewardship

3. Culture, Identity, and Biocultural Landscapes

- Cultural heritage and ecological knowledge systems
- Sacred groves, traditional agriculture, and ethnecology
- Role of folklore, rituals, and belief systems in conservation
- Biocultural resilience and sustainability ethics

4. Sustainable Livelihoods and Environmental Justice

- Ecological sustainability of agriculture, fishing, salt-making, and forestry
- Socio-economic vulnerability of traditional resource users
- Environmental displacement, migration, and rights to resources
- Gender equity and youth engagement in eco-livelihoods

5. Urban-Rural Continuum and Resilient Settlements

- Sustainable urban planning and green infrastructure
- Rural resilience in the face of urban expansion and climate shocks
- Smart villages and eco-habitats
- Traditional housing, architecture, and adaptive design

6. Coastal and Marine Ecosystem Sustainability

- Blue economy and coastal community engagement
- Mangrove restoration and marine biodiversity
- Climate change impacts on fisheries and sea salt livelihoods

- Integrated coastal zone management and governance

7. Technological Innovations and Green Transitions

- Renewable energy, smart irrigation, and green technology
- Remote sensing and GIS in environmental monitoring
- Sustainable tourism, organic farming, and low-carbon practices
- Climate-smart technologies for community resilience

8. Environmental Policy, Governance, and Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

- Localizing SDGs through community action
- Environmental legislation, decentralization, and eco-justice
- Role of institutions, NGOs, and networks in conservation governance
- Policy integration for biodiversity, water, land, and climate

9. Environmental Education, Awareness, and Behavioural Change

- Eco-literacy and green curriculum in schools and colleges
- Role of art, media, and digital platforms in sustainability communication
- Youth movements and eco-volunteerism
- Environmental ethics and value-based education

10. Case Studies, Best Practices, and Models of Resilience

- Documented field experiences from across India
- Community innovations in climate and conservation
- Knowledge sharing across disciplines and geographies
- Scalable and replicable solutions for a sustainable tomorrow

📌 About the College

Bajkul Millani Mahavidyalaya (affiliated to Vidyasagar University) was re-accredited (3rd Cycle) with grade 'B+' (2.69) by NAAC in the year, 2024. Our college is one of the larger colleges in rural Bengal in terms of strength of students (about 4,400) and the number of subjects taught (18-Honours Disciplines & 23-General Disciplines) at the under graduate and recently post graduate levels (5-Regular PG Courses). The college campus consists of a lush green atmosphere with playground, flower gardens, large UG and PG buildings, gymnasium, Indoor Sports Training facilities, students' hostel for girls, bank, students' canteen, cycle stand, teachers' accommodation, Principal's quarters, etc.

New constructions for general auditorium inside the extended campus, canteen with modern facilities and subsidized food, digital cataloging of library books and journals, library reading room, photocopy facilities for students and to provide better class room facilities with LCD projectors and audio-visual system and ceramic boards, etc. are in offering.

At our college, a wide variety of subject are offered at the under graduate (UG) level. The post graduate (PG) courses are offered in Sanskrit, Bengali, Geography, Philosophy and History.

Our college receives a well-mixed pull of students from rural and urban areas. Our students come out with flying colours and they do well in further higher studies. Many of our students excel in research works and in high profile jobs all over the countries and abroad.

📍 About the Department of Geography

The department started its journey in the session 1998 with only general course. But since 2000 when honours course was introduced, it entered in the mainstream of the college. Gloriously the PG department has been introduced in 2016. Today, our department is not only an integral part and leading one UG and PG department of Bajkul Milani Mahavidyalaya, undoubtedly, the department has been emerged as one of the most well equipped and well placed undergraduate and post graduate department of Vidyasagar University. Within only sixteen years' journey, the department has managed to possess all kinds of conventional and modern instruments and a high quality department library with more than seven hundred books on subject and all the related disciplines and sub-disciplines. Not only that, our department is mostly popular because of maintaining the rules and regulations, providing the technical and smart class system, conducting the different character building cultural and career counseling programmes, arranging the inter-disciplinary, regional, state level and national level seminars and such type of knowledge enriched programmes and extraordinary keenness bonding students, alumni and staff. The department already has two full time teachers (1 Associate Professor & 1 Assistant Professor), twelve State Aided College Teachers (10 SACT-I & II) and two permanent non-teaching staff. So in terms of students' support, it has emerged as one of the best in the region. So far, thirteen batches of students have been passed out and many of them are well placed in academic and research fields in various schools, colleges and universities around the country. All the teachers of the department are actively engaged in research and contributed about thirty research papers in various journals of repute. Overall, it may be said that our department is heartily trying to be good lover and follower as well as survivor of this subject, Geography with its effortless and evergreen journey on the most dynamic, but versatile geo-environmental track.

📍 About the Department of Zoology

The Department of Zoology was established in 1995 with General courses, followed by the introduction of Honours courses in 1998-99. Since then, it has maintained a strong academic record under Vidyasagar University, with alumni contributing to reputed research institutes and diverse professions. Currently, the department comprises two permanent assistant professors (one Ph.D. holder, another pursuing Ph.D.) and seven SACT-II teachers, of whom two are also enrolled in Ph.D. programmes. Faculty members are actively involved in research, social work, NSS, projects, and surveys. The department fosters a close-knit environment where learning extends beyond classrooms.

It is equipped with two advanced laboratories, a departmental museum with rare specimens, and a well-stocked library. Teaching-learning activities include PowerPoint presentations, quizzes, class tests, tutorials, remedial classes, mock entrance tests, and guest lectures from resource persons. Annual field trips, seminars, workshops, and group discussions enhance practical knowledge and skills. Students also publish an annual wall magazine, organize cultural and academic events like Teachers' Day, farewells, and welcomes.

The department is active in biodiversity conservation through membership in the Biodiversity Management Committee of Bhagwanpur I Block, People's Biodiversity Register work under WBBB, animal rescue, and public awareness campaigns. It has signed MoUs with Lokmata Rani Rasmani Mission and Mahishadal Raj College, ensuring collaborative programmes. An add-on course in Wildlife and Biodiversity Conservation began in 2021, and four webinars were organized during the COVID-19 period.

Beyond academics, the department encourages self-employment and entrepreneurship in areas like pisciculture, poultry farming, vermicomposting, and beekeeping. Through quality teaching, hands-on training, and community engagement, the department continues to nurture academic excellence, research culture, biodiversity awareness, and socio-economic empowerment of students.
